Henry and Kim,

I am unable to make the meeting today due to prior obligations at that time. Also, in discussing this meeting with my husband, who is a corporate general counsel, he expressed concern that this meeting may be breaking the right-to-know law. He said that with a third-party present there is no privilege of confidentiality.

I would appreciate someone letting me know what occurs at this meeting (could a board member take minutes, perhaps?).

Thanks so much, and fingers crossed for sun (or at least a respite from rain!)

Ann
